◆ Junior High Day Camp: Grades 6-8, July 6-7
Campers will receive instruction in all the individual skills of volleyball (passing, setting, hitting, blocking, serving, etc.). Technique will be geared towards the appropriate age and skill level. Campers will also get a chance to use the skills in game-like situations. Campers will be divided by age.

◆ Fundamental Skills Day Camp: Grades 9-10, July 8-10
Campers will receive instruction in all the individual skills of volleyball (passing, setting, hitting, blocking, serving, etc.) and then integrate them into team-oriented drills. Campers will work on all skills as well as specialize by position. Fundamentals are emphasized. Campers will be divided by age.

◆ High Intensity Camp: Grades 11-12+, July 12-14
This is camp will cover more advanced techniques at a much higher intensity than the fundamental skills camp. Instruction will include fundamental training in all skills and position specialization, but also more "team-oriented" drills. Campers will be divided by age.

◆ Setters Camp: Grades 10-12+, July 13-14
This camp will be a position specific camp for setters. It will include basic technique training, footwork drills, advanced setting skills and decision-making training. The morning sessions will be setter-only training. In the afternoon, setters will be combined with the high intensity camp to get an opportunity to work with hitters. Campers will be divided by age.

A MESSAGE FROM COACH KIRCH

College volleyball has undergone many changes in recent years. Along with these changes has come increased participation as well as exposure for our sport and it has been exciting to watch. Over the last 12 years, I have seen tremendous improvement in the level of volleyball in Northeastern Wisconsin. Green Bay has been the host of the last seven WIAA State Volleyball tournaments and hosted an NCAA Volleyball Regional in 2004 as well as USA men's world league matches in 2007 and 2008. More and more young athletes are choosing to play volleyball and our camp staff wants to do whatever it can to help in that growth. We have seen that same progress at UW-Green Bay as we have risen from the bottom of the conference to the top, earning our first NCAA tournament bid in 2003 and our highest conference finish in 2006. Our coaching staff and student-athletes know what it takes to get to the top and we are excited to share that knowledge and passion for the sport with you.

Coach Debbie Kirch

The 2006 squad finished in second place in the Horizon League, the highest conference finish ever for the program.

Coach Joseph Goodson is entering his third year with the Green Bay volleyball program. He is the former assistant coach at Georgia Tech and also worked with the University of Georgia program, as well as coaching teams with the Atlanta Juniors Volleyball Club. He now coaches with Fox Cities Elite Volleyball Club. He has been involved with camps at Emory University, University of Georgia and Georgia Tech.
